“ My darling husband, oh how you are missed. Two months today you left this world and for this there will always be sorrow in my heart.
There is a void that will never be replaced.
I hope you have found peace, without sickness and pain for knowing this would make your leaving just a little more bearable on my heart.
I love you today and always.

“ Memory after Memory of Paul has flooded me this past week since his passing from this Earth...So many happy and endearing moments his gentle soul has touched my life. I had been Raven and Paul's neighbors in their former hometown of Matamoras, PA. He was always there for you...no matter what you needed. He came to my rescue for a car that wouldn't start, he was there with a snowblower on a wintry day, we worked side by side in their shop and studio...and he showed me "the secret to moving a heavy table" from an attic to a downstairs floor...I was always amazed by his skills and talents..the Player Piano move was one of his most amazing skills! Moving that around by the three of us was like an episode of "I Love Lucy"...Day in and day out, moments too numerous to mention..but all too important..that will be held in my heart forever. I love you, my own special "Pool Boy"...and my "Almost Same Birthday Brother"...I will never forget you...and will carry you in my heart forever! A true dear friend...every moment I live will continue to be touched by your beautiful spirit....Peace and Love, Elaine xoxo

“ There is a old saying....."Chance made us neighbors, hearts made us friends". We have been Paul's neighbor for the past 2 1/2 years. We quickly learned that Paul had a very big heart. Paul would always be there to help, to give sound advice on how to tackle almost any task. He was a very talented man. He always had a very welcoming "Howdy Neighbor!" for us...always brightened the day. We are very grateful to have known such a kind, giving gentleman. We will truly miss you, Paul. Hope you find that great fishing hole in the sky. For those that fish and for those that don't...someday we will meet again...and Paul, you can show us the way. Rest in peace, my friend.

“ If anyone questions the truth in the sentiment that only the good die young, all they need to do iis remember you and your life.! I remember the first time I met you so many years ago. You were with my sister at a fair on Long Island . You followed me around the entire day trying to convince me of how much you liked my sister and how you wanted a future with her. You were determined to be a part of her life no matter what, and you certainly make that a reality. The two of you grew into a very deep and special love that some people only dream of. Over the years I got to see what a sweet and gentle soul you were and was happy that my sister had you in her life through the good times and the bad .It breaks my heart that the two of you were cheated of a future you should've had together but was not meant to be. I want to thank you for being in all of our lives and for touching us all in your special way.Until we are all together again, You will be missed.

“ This is how I will remember you Paul ... candidly laughing at a joke you made enjoying the sun looking out at the river. What a beautiful day it was! The sun was shining but For some reason I was freezing and despite the pain you were in, you walked to the car and you wrapped me tightly in blankets and jackets! You were always so thoughtful and you always wanted to make sure we were comfortable wherever we were til the last day. I will carry with me every moment we shared for the rest of my life. Thank you for every laugh and lesson. I will miss you and your hugs more than you know! The Earth has suffered a great loss this week but the heavens gained a remarkable soul. The sky will shine a bit brighter now that you're there. Enjoy paradise, my sweet uncle. Until we meet again!

“ I have known Paul for a short time as my neighbor. Am heartbroken upon hearing of his passing. He put up just a courageous fight with cancer. I am so glad to have known him, as he was a gentleman, full of kindness, a hard worker, plus a wonderful smile that will always be remembered...
