“ My grandma was the hardest working person you will have ever met. She was my mother figure and she always called me her guardian angel. It was so hard to make the decisions to make sure she was comfortable and happy, but i know she is much happier now being with her husband and her oldest child. One thing I learned, is that we all die young. My grandma was 88 yrs young. She had a pure heart and a child at heart. I miss you grandma, I will be ok. You gave me everything I needed knowledge wise to survive. :) I love you so very very much.

“ My memories of Grandma are rather few, I have lived 3,000 miles away in California all my life. I only really remember seeing her twice in my life. When I was 16 we finally made a trip out to NY. and then about a year or two later She was able to fly out with my aunt Barbra and cousin Jessica. I am glad I got to meet her.. Its a blessing my parents got to visit last month with her on their vacation to NY.. May you rest in peace grandma we all know how much you have earned your rest... I love you.. till I see you again. <3 always your granddaughter Christine.
