“Dave was a genuine, generous and loyal friend. I learned a lot from him during the time I was lucky enough to spend with him in my 20s. He always made a conscious effort to be a decent human and to connect with people wherever he went. Dave made it a point to learn people’s names, make small talk, inquiring how they’re doing, perhaps make a joke to get a laugh or smile or maybe share some words of wisdom or a gratuity to show his gratitude for people’s time and efforts. Dave’s friendly personality made an impact and people remembered him for it, from the cashiers at Dunkin’ Donuts, the valet at Racino or even toll booth workers back in the day, he made an effort to try to make people’s days a little better just by being kind and caring. We had many adventures together and he was there for many of the good times and there for me though some of the tough times. I’ll never forget Dave’s laugh, his kindness and his ability to make the best of less than ideal circumstances. I will miss him & cherish the memories.

I pray he is at peace and I imagine he is pain free now, enjoying a decent steak and a strong captain and coke :)
