“ For Tricia

With purple painted nails, glass raised to smiling lips, you cheer to sweet friendship and perfect three rail kicks.

Your stick shift laugh gears up and reaches highway speed, your hug casts out winter like the first warm spring breeze.

You praise your opponent for all shots missed or made, and console the vanquished until the bruised pride fades.

When balls rattle pockets and will not sink from view, your calm kind voice is there to settle down the cue.

In this well-worn pool room, with it's dim, beer-stained floor, you are a shining light of grace, forever cherished and adored.

*With love and my sincere condolences for Kathy, Darrell and the entire family –
