“ Rosie and Family, I was sad to hear of the passing of Captain Wayne. I remember all the good times working with Wayne on the ship. I remember when I put an AC in Wayne’s port hole in his bedroom. A few days later he said the thing wasn’t working – it kept shutting down. So, I checked and his bedroom was 65 degrees. I told him it wasn’t a refrigerator and would shut off to prevent freezing the unit! I remember spending many an early morning with Wayne on the bridge watching the sunrise. He was always talking about how proud he was of his family. Deepest condolences Leon Dunnam
